AUDRURING

The starting order will be determined by the free practice for the first race and by the previous race for the second and third. The competitors will line up in starting order in the pit lane and leave for a warmup lap behind the Safety Car. The Safety car will come into the pitlane, and the pole sitter will become the Master Car. If the formation is acceptable the start can proceed. The length of the race will be 6 laps. Classification will be based on the quickest lap time during those 6 laps (Unlimited, Standard and Classic) or the average lap time difference (Touring).

Driving conduct during the race will be according to the normal rules and will be strictly monitored.

9.2 Arrangement of the competition

The competition follows the published timetable on the notice board. Each competitor must make sure that he arrives in time before his or her race session to arrange the exit to the pitlane. Every competitor must have a person who comes to the grid area to show the competitor his place at the starting grid. This person must be available well ahead of the competitor's starting line-up area at the pit lane gate in order to get possible instructions from the pit lane officer.

10. Inspection

Method of performing the technical inspection according to the own rules of the class of each participating class. The inspections take place at each of their own pre-announced inspection points, under the guidance of class inspectors. Possible follow-up inspections are done in the Parc Fermé area or in a manner that can be stated separately.
